Roivant to Support Accelerating Development of Arbutus' HBV Pipeline and Maximizing the Value of Arbutus' LNP Assets*

VANCOUVER, British Columbia and WARMINSTER, Pa., Oct. 02, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Arbutus Biopharma Corporation (Nasdaq:ABUS), an industry-leading hepatitis B virus (HBV) therapeutic solutions company, today announced that it has signed a share purchase agreement with Roivant Sciences for the sale of convertible preferred shares ("Preferred Shares") for gross proceeds of $116.4 million. Arbutus intends to use the proceeds to further develop and advance its clinical and preclinical HBV pipeline programs.

"We are pleased to receive this strategic investment from Roivant, Arbutus' largest existing shareholder and a company known for its innovative approach to drug development," said Dr. Mark J. Murray, President and CEO of Arbutus. "This financing meaningfully extends Arbutus' operating runway to enable the generation of important clinical data for multiple pipeline programs. I look forward to leveraging Roivant's infrastructure and capabilities to complement Arbutus and to accelerate our mission of developing a curative therapy for HBV."

"I am pleased with the progress that Arbutus has made over the past two years, but I believe that the company's most exciting days are ahead of it," said Vivek Ramaswamy, Founder and CEO of Roivant and Chairman of Arbutus. "HBV is one of the most devastating diseases impacting patients globally, and a cure remains elusive. Roivant is proud to support Arbutus in taking on this bold mission through an expanded relationship. We look forward to providing strategic and operational support to Arbutus, while also maximizing the value of Arbutus' other assets, including through potential additional investment where required."

Following the close of this transaction, Roivant and Arbutus intend to explore working together to leverage Roivant's infrastructure to accelerate more efficient development of Arbutus' HBV drug pipeline. Arbutus also anticipates working with Roivant to expand its geographic footprint in HBV drug development and to maximize the value of Arbutus' non-HBV assets, including Arbutus' LNP and GalNAc platforms for the delivery of novel therapeutic modalities including RNA interference, mRNA, and gene editing technologies.

Roivant's investment will take the form of preferred shares which will be convertible into common shares at a conversion price of $7.13 per share (a 15% premium to the closing stock price on September 29, 2017). The preferred shares plus an amount equal to 8.75% per annum compounded annually will be subject to mandatory conversion into common shares on the fourth anniversary of the closing date. Roivant has agreed to a four year lock-up period for this investment and its existing holdings in Arbutus. The initial investment of $50.0 million is expected to close shortly, and the remaining amount of $66.4 million is expected to close promptly upon satisfaction of customary closing conditions including regulatory and shareholder approvals, as applicable, under applicable Canadian securities law.

Please refer to the Company's Form 8-K to be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission for further details of the terms of the convertible preferred shares.

About Chronic Hepatitis B

Chronic Hepatitis B (CHBV) is a serious infection of the liver caused by the hepatitis B virus (HBV) and is considered a major global health problem. CHBV infection can cause chronic liver disease, which increases a patient's risk of death from liver cirrhosis and liver cancer. Estimates from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) indicate that up to 350 million people globally may be chronically infected with HBV. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), more than 780,000 people die every year due to HBV. Most currently available therapies aim to suppress viral replication but do not lead to a cure in the overwhelming majority of patients.
