Arbutus Injunction Survives Attempted Appeal by Acuitas

Acuitas Prevented from Any Further LNP Licensing to Moderna or Other Parties

VANCOUVER, British Columbia and DOYLESTOWN, Pa., April 13, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Arbutus Biopharma Corporation (Nasdaq:ABUS), an industry-leading Hepatitis B Virus (HBV) therapeutic solutions company, today announced that a justice of the Court of Appeal for British Columbia denied an attempt by Acuitas Therapeutics to appeal the injunction issued by the Supreme Court of British Columbia, which prevents Acuitas from any further licensing of Arbutus' lipid nanoparticle (LNP) technology.

"Arbutus is the industry leader in LNP technology which is enabling the future of mRNA therapeutics," said Dr. Mark J. Murray, Arbutus' President and CEO. "We are gratified that the Court has denied Acuitas' attempt to appeal the injunction, which prevents Acuitas from further sublicensing Arbutus' LNP technology. The injunction was issued by the Court in response to an Acuitas initiated lawsuit against Arbutus. We believe LNP technology is a valuable asset which, in addition to our HBV pipeline, will drive the value of Arbutus."

Background on Acuitas Cross-License

Consistent with the terms of the settlement agreement signed in November 2012, Arbutus finalized and entered a cross-license agreement with Acuitas in December 2013. The terms of the cross-license agreement provide Acuitas with access to certain of Arbutus' earlier IP generated prior to mid-April 2010. At the same time, the terms provide Arbutus with access to certain of Acuitas' technology and licenses in the RNAi field, along with a percentage of each milestone and royalty payment with respect to certain products. To date Acuitas has announced four sub-licenses of the technology to Moderna Therapeutics.

Background on Acuitas License Dispute

On August 29, 2016, Arbutus provided Acuitas with notice that Arbutus considered Acuitas to be in material breach of the companies' cross-license agreement, citing sublicenses with third party Moderna. The cross-license agreement provides that it may be terminated upon any material breach by the other party 60 days after receipt of written notice of termination describing the material breach in reasonable detail. On October 25, 2016, Acuitas filed a Notice of Civil Claim in the Supreme Court of British Columbia seeking an order that Arbutus perform its obligations under the Cross License Agreement, for damages ancillary to specific performance, injunctive relief, interest and costs. Arbutus disputed Acuitas' position and filed a response within the time frame prescribed by the Court. Arbutus also filed a counterclaim seeking, among other relief, a declaration that the Cross License Agreement had been terminated. On January 10, 2017, Arbutus filed an application seeking an order to enjoin Acuitas from, inter alia, entering into any further agreements purporting to sublicense Arbutus' technology from the date of the order to the date of trial or further order from the court. Acuitas filed a response to Arbutus' application and the matter was the subject of a hearing on January 26, 2017, which resulted in the Supreme Court of British Columbia granting a pre-trial injunction against Acuitas. In reaching its decision to grant the pre-trial injunction, the Court "agree[d] that Arbutus has a strong case," on the evidence before it, that Acuitas was in breach of its agreement with Arbutus. Under the terms of the pre-trial injunction, Acuitas is prevented from entering into any new agreements which include sublicensing of Arbutus' LNP, or providing, disclosing or otherwise conveying Arbutus' technology to any third parties outside of existing agreements until the end of October, or further order of the Court. On March 7, 2017, Acuitas appealed the injunction decision and on April 3, 2017, the appeal was denied. The case regarding the termination of Acuitas' license from Arbutus will be tried in court subject to scheduling.

Forward-Looking Statements and Information

This press release contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and forward looking information within the meaning of Canadian securities laws (collectively, "forward-looking statements"). Forward-looking statements in this press release include statements about preventing Acuitas from any further licensing of LNP technology; driving the value of Arbutus using our LNP technology and HBV pipeline; and developing and commercializing a cure for chronic hepatitis B virus (HBV) infection.

With respect to the forward-looking statements contained in this press release, Arbutus has made numerous assumptions regarding, among other things: the continued support of the Court; the continued demand for Arbutus' assets; and the stability of economic and market conditions. While Arbutus considers these assumptions to be reasonable, these assumptions are inherently subject to significant business, economic, competitive, market and social uncertainties and contingencies.

Additionally, there are known and unknown risk factors which could cause Arbutus' actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements contained herein. Known risk factors include, among others: the Court may no longer support the injunction; economic and market conditions may worsen; and market shifts may require a change in strategic focus.

A more complete discussion of the risks and uncertainties facing Arbutus appears in Arbutus' Annual Report on Form 10-K and Arbutus' continuous disclosure filings, which are available at www.sedar.com and at www.sec.gov. All forward-looking statements herein are qualified in their entirety by this cautionary statement, and Arbutus disclaims any obligation to revise or update any such forward-looking statements or to publicly announce the result of any revisions to any of the forward-looking statements contained herein to reflect future results, events or developments, except as required by law.
